

"Next Results" functionality enhanced for 360 Search

June 12 –We are excited to announce that we enhanced the “Next Results” functionality in the 360 Search results display. Developed by request, this enhancement makes it easier for librarians and patrons to receive additional search results beyond the initial set displayed in the results window via a new “Next Results” display, improved functionality and customization options.

Users are still able to select the “Next Results” link as they have before on the last page of the results set. Now when users select this link the next batch of results generated is appended to the existing results set. Users can also merge the old and new results as they wish and get the results in context, for specific providers or databases.

To learn more about this enhancement, please search for the "360 Search User Guide" in the "Find Answers" section of the new Support Center. Details on "Next Results" start on page 16 of the 360 Search User Guide.

As always, since 360 Search is a hosted service based on our Software as a Service (SaaS) approach this enhancement is seamlessly integrated with current implementations. Users can benefit from it now through the default settings that are available.

If you have any other suggestions, requests, or service related questions, such as customization requests, please use the new Support Center to ask us a question or contact us at clients@serialssolutions.com.
