

New 360 Link Enhancements Can Improve Your Results Page

January 22 – We're excited to announce that there are two new 360 Link enhancements to improve the effectiveness of your results page. You can now include Public Notes to quickly and efficiently communicate important information to your users and also use an advanced layout option that specifically improves the design of your results page.

- Include Public Notes on your 360 Link results page to quickly and efficiently communicate important information to your users. This new release ensures consistency between public notes that appear on your library's E-Journal Portal and your 360 Link results page – the notes that appear for the E-Journal Portal will be the same as those for the 360 Link results page.

Public Notes can be entered through the Client Center at the database, journal, and title levels. You can include information such as locations for print holdings, access restrictions, or even usernames & passwords for certain resources need to be clearly communicated to patrons to ensure that they are getting to the research that they are looking for. Detailed information about this valuable feature can be accessed through the Support Center

- Improve the design of your results page by uploading CSS and JavaScript through an advanced layout menu option available within the 360 Link Customization Menu. Using these advanced functionality allows you the highest levels of control over the content, layout, and usability of your 360 Link Results screen.

Access these new enhancements through the 360 Link "Advanced Features" link on your library's Client Center homepage. Just select either the "Public Notes" or "Advanced" new menu options at the bottom of the customization menu on the left-hand side of your screen; to activate the Public Notes functionality select "Include".
